SPECIAL TELEGRAM.

London, July 16th.

Sir John Pender was yesterday elected M.P. for Wickburgh.

Sir John is called the "Telegraph King."

London, 16th.—The latest election returns up to 9 p.m. show:

Conservatives..... 333
Liberals..... 316

The resignation of Lord Salisbury is expected at once.

It is now said that the other chief preparations to celebrate Gladstone's victory are already being made.

Warsaw, 16th.—The emigration of agricultural families continues to increase, especially of young men who are leaving for military service. Most of them are going to the United States and South America.

Dublin, 16th.—In consequence of Gladstone's triumph in the elections, the agitation in Ulster against Home Rule has burst out again. Great excitement prevails and disorder is feared.

Paris, 16th.—Pastor continues in the same condition, and great fears are entertained of a fatal result.

Madrid, 16th.—The Liberal Deputies are opposing in the most energetic manner the economic reforms proposed by Government. Ganzo, Morel and Sagasta have taken a prominent part in the debate and bitterly attacked the Government.

(To the "Prensa.")

London, 16th.—Sir Charles Dillke has been elected by a majority of 2515.

At 2 p.m. the total result showed 300 seats for the Liberals and 300 for the Conservatives.

Long telegrams from Captain Lugard announce that the British mission in Uganda.

The wrecked steamer City of Chicago has been seen.

New York, 16th.—No change in the London money market. Our failure on the Stock Exchange. Foreign Bonds steady owing to the rejection of the Silver Coinage Bill. Money in better demand. Silver bars 39s.

Berlin, 16th.—The storm has done great damage in all parts of Germany.

The National Zeitung remarks that Count Waldersee, who had undertaken to bring about a reconciliation between the Emperor and Bismarck, keeps up nevertheless, a violent opposition.

St. Petersburg, 16th.—The differences between the President of the Council, Mr.
Bismarck, and Mr. Woeis, leader of the Clerical Party, have been amicably settled. The latter has promised to support Government and thus secure a majority for it.

Prinze Bismarck arrived in Vienna last night to attend the approaching marriage of his son. Large crowds assembled outside the railway station and on the platform, and the Prince, alighting, was received with much enthusiasm.

It was only with difficulty that he could get to the hotel where he was to stay.
The cause was one of great excitement.
An encounter took place between the students and the police, in the course of which several of the former were injured.

A disastrous storm swept over the city of Burgos and the neighbouring villages, on Saturday, devastating the vineyards, orchards, and dwellings in several villages, uprooting upwards of two hundred trees, and reducing the inhabitants to poverty.

The Duke of Connaught yesterday, in the grounds of Chelsea Hospital, inspected the Corps of Commissioners, to the number of nearly two thousand officers and men. His Royal Highness expressed his gratification at the increased numbers and efficiency of the body.

Mr. Gladstone, on Saturday afternoon, addressed a gathering of Nonconformist ministers and others at the residence of the Rev. J. Guinness Rogers, Clapham-common. He spoke of the address recently sent to this country by the Presbyterian of Ulster, and said its contents were allegations of which no proof was offered. But there was abundant proof to the contrary of their statements, in the facts that, in the Home Rule Bill of 1886, the Roman Catholic had consented to a stipulation that the erection of a religious establishment in Ireland should be prohibited; that the Roman Catholic electors of Ireland invariably elected Protestants to public offices when they could get them; and that in political affairs they refused to allow the interference of the Pope.

The right hon. gentleman contended that the Irish freedom would remove for ever the cause of party between the Protestant and Roman Catholics into an indisputable mass, and would restore to peace and stability to the country.

The Attorney General, speaking at the Hochester on Saturday night, claimed that the past six years had been a period of unexampled work. No money had been spent on foreign wars; the Navy had been strengthened; and whilst reductions had been made in the public burdens, the only article upon which an increased tax had been imposed was champagne.

Mr. Morley addressed his constituents at Newcastle on Saturday night.

He declared his intention to vote against an Eight Hours Bill. As to Home Rule, such a measure, he said, could only be framed as a whole after deliberation by a Cabinet; but its principle, he said, was the effective management by Irishmen of business specifically Irish, and the final supremacy of the Imperial Parliament.

Mr. Chaplin, speaking at a Unionist demonstration at Yoxall on Saturday, said that the nearer they approached to the day of conflict the more the Government gained and their opponents lost confidence. If the Ministry were judged by their merits and performances he felt sure of their return to power.

The annual collections for the Hospitals were made in most of the churches and chapels of the Metropolis yesterday. The Lord Mayor and the Corporation of the City attended the morning service in Westminster Abbey, and the afternoon service in St. Paul's Cathedral.

The Scottish Home Rule Association has issued a manifesto to the electors and non-electors of Scotland. The manifesto sets forth that the restoration of the self-government of which Scotland was unjustly deprived by the incorporation of Scotland into the United Kingdom is a political aspiration of the Scotch people.
No doubt the success of the Irish agitation in forcing Mr. Gladstone to espouse the cause of Ireland was an encouragement to them, but their own seriousness and discontent are of longer standing. Mr. Gladstone more than twenty years ago maintained at Aberdeen that Scotland and Wales had as much right to Home Rule as Ireland. He has invoked the Scotch people to support his demand for Home Rule. He has invoked the Scotch people to support his demand for Home Rule. He has in-
demand for Home Rule.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone will leave Chelsea garden on Saturday next for Hawarden, where Sunday will be spent.
On the following day Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone will leave for Scotland, and will be the guests of Lord Rosebery at Dalnagarry during their visit. Mr. Gladstone's visit to his constituents.

The somewhat sudden death of Mr.
Dillon yesterday removes from the House of Commons one of its best known figures. For nearly forty years he had been one of the representatives of the Irish people in the House of Commons, and he had come to be regarded as the type and model of a Welsh Political Dignitary. Personally, we believe, he remained a member of the Church of England, but in his Parliamentary capacity he devoted his very considerable energies to the cause of Disestablishment.
Indeed, his end was probably accelerated by the exertions into which he had entered in view of the approaching General Election. Not content with defending his own seat, he had engaged himself to address the Gladstonians in a neighbouring constituency, where he was to oppose the candidature of his nephew, Sir James Lowry.

It seems to have been overcome by the excitement of a meeting held by his own people on Saturday, and his advanced age—he was in his seventy-ninth year—prevailed against him. He died at a quarter of twelve yesterday morning, and he died the first Parliamentary victim of the impending struggle.

Monza, June 19th
The King and Queen of Italy, accompanied by the Duke of Salaparuta, for Foreign Affairs, and attended by the members of the Civil and Military households, left here at five minutes past four this afternoon for Potsdam, travelling by the St. Gothard railway.
The King and Queen, accompanied by the members of the Civil and Military households, and prominent members of the Municipality, were present on the platform.
Their Majesties were loudly cheered by the crowds which thronged the railway station, and the Emperor and Empress and the railway station.

The retinue of their Italian Majesties comprises five ladies and seventeen gentlemen of the Court, besides about fifteen servants. They are taking a costly journey to deposit on the Emperor Frederick's tomb. On their return their Majesties will travel by way of Frankfurt, where the King will inspect his Regiment of Hussars.

Rome, Sunday night.
The precious "Biblia Pauperum" recently bought at the Borgheze sale by a German dealer, and stopped at the frontier by order of the Minister of Public Instruction, has been released from the embargo laid on it and allowed to proceed to its destination, it being proved not to have been abstracted from the Vatican library, as was at one time hinted, nor from any collection in the hands of the Italian Government has judicially sold at the Borgheze sale for eighteen thousand francs, is the one which was lost, in 1878, by the Marchese Giglioli, of Florence, to a Roman gentleman.

Berlin, Sunday night.
Letters from Emin Pacha have been received by his relatives at Neisse, in Silesia, the dates ranging from March to December 1891. They are reported to fill thirty-six pages in the extremely small handwriting, and give a minute description of the serious difficulties he had to encounter in his last expedition, especially the want of provisions and the treachery of some of the people of the Sudan. There appears room to hope that the report of Emin having died is erroneous. The recently-quoted telegram to the effect that Emin had arrived safe and sound at Bukoba, in Tanganyika, is now confirmed by the report of his death.

Zanzibar, June 19th.
The German force under Baron von Bulow, Commander of the German Station Kilima Ngara, consisting of five European and one gun and a hundred and fifty Sudanese, is reported to have sustained a severe defeat in Moshi territory on the 10th inst. Their gun was captured, and two-thirds of the force are believed to have been destroyed.
One European was killed, and Baron von Bulow and another European were wounded.

Tangier, June 18.
The Sultan received Sir Charles Euan Smith in audience on the 11th, and again on the 14th inst. The diplomatic struggle between Sir Charles and his opponents at the Moorish Court is stated to be very keen, and it is reported that the Moors oppose the British Minister's proposals in every possible manner, and with the utmost financial favour-itism. As new, however, of a definite character respecting the negotiations is likely to transpire for at least three weeks to come.

Mossowah, June 18.
A band of five hundred Dervishes having made a raid upon Bari, the Government has ordered a detachment of troops to be sent to the spot.

error of Agordat, the nearest Italian station, sent out a force composed of troops of the garrison and bands of friendly natives, under the command of Captain Huddell, against the Derv-ishes. They were severely beaten, many of their number, including two Emirs, being killed, and they were forced to abandon their loot.

Midland, Sunday night.
The Minister of Finance will lay on the table of Congress this week a project of law authorising him to issue a loan of seven millions sterling in Reconquero four per cent. stock.

The Gazette to-day publishes the revenue returns for eleven months of the current financial year. These statistics show a falling-off of 20,000,000 pesetas since the new Protectionist Tariff came into force in February last.

Alhambra, Sunday night.
King George having arrived home from Copenhagen last night, the end of the political crisis may confidently be expected in the course of a few days.
The verification of the electoral returns will terminate by Wednesday, and the President of the new Chamber will be chosen on Thursday. The British Minister, Sir E. Monson, dined with King George on Saturday night, and afterwards presented his letters of recall.

New York, Sunday night.
The state of things in the Stock Market last week turned upon the radical change that has taken place respecting the crops. The momentary price crash estimated the yield of wheat at five hundred and five million bushels. Bradstreet's estimate is five hundred and fifty million, and deducting the quantity secured for local consumption and seed, estimated at three hundred and twenty million, there remains two hundred and thirty million bushels available for export.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

MR. GLADSTONE ON POLITICS AND RELIGION IN IRELAND.

(From our own Correspondent.)

June 19th.
Mr. Gladstone was quite in his element yesterday afternoon at Clapham Common, where, at the house of the Rev. J. Guinness Rogers, he addressed the gathering of Nonconformist Opinion, which in matter and tone was simply irreproachable, was in some sense a reply to the Ulster Convention.
His audience counted amongst them many ministers of the Gospel of the Establishment, and even some of the Christianity for has not Viscount Hallam recently reminded us that "undenicational Christianity is not Christianity at all." Mr. Gladstone's great speech looked the form of a sermon, and he spoke with a studied modesty, and with a simplicity of expression which was simply irreproachable. He praised the speakers at the Belfast meeting for their moderation, which he contrasted with the excited and restless words which were heard in the Convention.
Mild, moderate and argumentative throughout, Mr. Gladstone's address was free from the smallest taint of unpleasantness, and making allowances for a studied modesty, opinion in answer to those who, residing in Ireland, will not admit that we, on this side, have a right to criticise Irish politics, the Liberal leader and champion of Home Rule seemed to have been contented that he had only to give Ireland liberty to manage her own affairs, and religious animosities will cease. He appealed to history—yes!— even to Mr. Lecky—as a proof that the spirit of nationalism, which is the spirit of the Irish people, is the spirit of the Irish people, and that the spirit of the Irish people is the spirit of the Irish people, and that the spirit of the Irish people is the spirit of the Irish people.
